Kia ora Julia

Thanks for this, much appreciated.

You asked yesterday whether John Small had any feedback – we've followed up and he does; he'll hopefully provide it tomorrow.

Ngā mihi
Luke

Subject: flexible generation capacity constraints

I thought this might be useful to circulate after our discussion on Tuesday about capacity constraints – it highlights the issues with “flexible” generation, and the many uses of this generation for risk management. Note this is really just a quick draft that I wrote and hasn't had rigorous review by others. I wrote it really to help clarify my own understanding.
